QTU Organiser -
Metro North

January 2018

Hello and welcome back to school. The QTU's organisational areas changed in January, resulting in a change in Organiser for some schools across Brisbane, Logan and the Sunshine and Gold Coasts. I will be responsible for members located in the QTU's 'Metropolitan North' region. Your school is part of this newly formed region. I have been an organiser for the QTU since 2010, working on the Gold Coast and more recently in the western suburbs and Ipswich. I am looking forward to working with you in Metro North. As we head into the 2018 school year I wish you a successful and rewarding year.

2018 Agenda

The QTU has already met with the new Education Minister, Grace Grace, to outline our members' priorities. These priorities include (but are not limited to):

- Highly Accomplished and Lead Teacher classifications – to be finalised and ready to commence in 2019 (see below for more detail)
- Promotional Positions Classification Review (PPCR) – to be finalised in late 2018 ready to inform EB9 negotiations in 2019 (see below for more detail)
- Preparations for Enterprising Bargaining (EB9)
- Job security – maximisation of permanent employment
- TAFE and VET in schools – re-establish and fund vocational education appropriately
- Human resources issues – attraction/retention, RAIS, teacher housing, transfer matters and part-time work
- Workload and wellbeing – workload matters, occupational violence, WH&S matters, online abuse of teachers, DV matters and LGBTIQ matters
- Students with disabilities – matters related to NDIS, ECDPs, AVTs, GOs and the WSS-SSR model
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander education – PD and curriculum support

NAPLAN campaign

For the latest information on the NAPLAN directive, go to the QTU website.

Recruitment

Please remember to encourage new teachers to join us!! We are strong when we stick together. The link to join online is here, or call 3512 9000 and ask for membership. If you are a school union rep or manage your school's induction program for new teachers, please ensure that membership of the union is included in your program. The 'union encouragement clause' in our Certified Agreement supports this being included in induction.

Workload and Wellbeing

Workload matters continue to place pressures upon QTU members, however appropriate steps should be taken to manage these matters at the school level. Please ensure that any workload issues or significant changes in practice for teachers are progressed meaningfully via the school's Local Consultative Committee (LCC). Resources (and links) which outline industrial agreements and expectations which can assist you at the school level include:

- Planning, preparation and differentiation
- Collegial engagement in classrooms \(classroom observations\)

- Purpose and use of data in schools
- Annual teacher performance review \(ATPR\) process
- Class Sizes

If you require some assistance with workload matters or in establishing or reviewing your LCC protocols and practices, please do not hesitate to make contact with me. It is an industrial requirement that all schools with more than 20 staff have an LCC which meets on a termly basis. Other on-line links related to workload, on-line safety for teachers, DV matters, and other topics can be accessed here: Staying Well.

A number of enquiries have arisen regarding before-school and 'open-door' policies. Please be aware that it is not a requirement to undertake these duties. Please make contact with the QTU if you have any questions regarding this issue.

Industrial Matters

The review of the promotional classifications structure is proceeding. Thalia Edmonds, one of our Industrial Advocates, will be off-line for six months to finalise our position on this matter. In addition, she will be developing the 'value of role' submission for the Industrial Relations Commission for the new Highly Accomplished and Lead Teacher positions. To top things off, the end of this year will see further consultation with members, as we head towards another Enterprise Bargaining year in 2019. We will keep you up to date with how you can provide feedback into this process as the year progresses. Click the links below for the latest information on:

- HAT and Lead teacher roles
- Taking the lead: national certification of Australia's best teacher.

If you have been acting in higher duties over the last two years, further information is contained on our website here to determine whether you might be entitled to back pay for Christmas vacation periods.
