

On Labour Day we march to honour the work and the sacrifices of those who have gone before us. We march to demonstrate that the strength of the union movement is unrivalled. When we turn out in our thousands, we are a symbol of the working people of Australia.

So, this year when you make plans for the Labour Day weekend, march with us. Bring a friend, a brother, a sister, a child, a mum.

Why? Because Labour Day is for all of us working people and it's ours to celebrate with those that we love.
